

Red Hill Country Club

Located beneath the beautiful foothills of the San Gabriel Mountains in Rancho Cucamonga, Red Hill Country Club delights its members and guests with glorious views and incredible sunsets. A private member-owned club, Red Hill was established in 1921 and originally designed by legendary golf course architect George C. Thomas, who is also known for his design of the Riviera, Los Angeles and Bel Air Country Clubs. Red Hill is a mature, challenging and exquisitely maintained “classic” course. Whether for business or pleasure, Red Hill’s playing, practice and dining facilities will exceed your expectations.

The course measures 6,613 yards with a par 72. The tree lined fairways , 43 bunkers and three lakes offer strategic challenges to players of every skill level.

Red Hill Country Club also has a superb staff and exemplary customer service which will spoil tournament participants and guests all day along, but especially during our Tournament Awards Banquet.
